

They've waited ten years. Will they finally gain everything they ever desired and more? There's only one bright spot Jasmine Hayes can see when she's suckered into helping plan her high school reunion. At least she'll be able to reconnect with old friends Chase Randolph and Alex Landry. There's nothing she regrets more than losing touch with those two handsome guys. Chase and Alex hadn't planned to attend the reunion, but the chance to see Jasmine again has Chase intrigued. Alex is his best friend and love of his life, but Jasmine will always be the girl who got away. One instant message is all it takes to center Alex's thoughts on a lusty reunion with Jasmine. He's extremely happy with Chase, but she's always been the girl of his dreams. He can't help but wonder if the chemistry the three of them had in high school is still there. Renewing old ties, however, puts triple the strain on some old ones. The choice they face is which ones to risk severing and which ones are worth keeping.
